REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION TO DISMISS PETITION FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Petitioner has filed with this Court a form Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus by a Person in State Custody purportedly challenging a prison disciplinary proceeding. Petitioner appears to be presently incarcerated pursuant to a 2004 conviction for harassment by persons in a correctional facility out of Washington County, Texas and a 2006 conviction for theft out of Harris County, Texas.¹ In his habeas corpus petition, petitioner contended he lost previously earned good-time credits as a result of a prison disciplinary proceeding that took place at the Clements Unit in Potter County, Texas. Petitioner remains incarcerated at the Clements Unit. For the reasons hereinafter expressed, the undersigned United States Magistrate Judge is of the opinion respondent's Motion to Dismiss should be GRANTED and petitioner's application for federal habeas corpus relief should be DISMISSED.

¹ This information was obtained from the online Offender Information Detail database maintained by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) and Exhibit A of Respondent's Motion to Dismiss with Brief in Support.

I.
PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On June 28, 2010, petitioner filed the instant petition. By that petition, he represented he was found guilty in case number 20100604CARI of “challenging state authority.” He stated the date of the guilty determination was June 4, 2010; step 1 grievance was denied on June 15, 2010; step 2 grievance was denied on June 21, 2010. In response to this Court’s Order to Show Cause, respondent has filed a Motion to Dismiss, to which petitioner has not replied.

II.
NO ACTUAL DISCIPLINARY CASE EXISTS

An actual controversy must exist at all stages of litigation in order for a case to be brought in federal court. Cook v. Hanberry, 592 F.2d 248, 249 (5th Cir. 1979). If a petitioner does not challenge an actual disciplinary proceeding, the interests habeas corpus was created to serve are not implicated. See Wolff v. McDonnell, 148 U.S. 539, 558, 94 S.Ct. 2963, 2976, 41 L.Ed.2d 935 (1974). Beyond the question of the existence of an actual case or controversy, however, there is a concern a petitioner may be abusing the writ of habeas corpus by intentionally misrepresenting material facts to a federal court in a habeas corpus petition. Even though pro se petitioners are afforded wide latitude, a court need not tolerate abuse of the litigation process by a pro se petitioner. Basing habeas corpus pleadings upon falsities constitutes such an abuse. See McCleskey v. Zant, 499 U.S. 467, 496, 111 S.Ct. 1454, 1471, 113 L.Ed.2d 517 (1991) (establishing federal habeas corpus courts need not tolerate clearly abusive habeas corpus petitions); Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 521 n. 13, 102 S.Ct. 1198, 1205, 71 L.Ed.2d 379 (1982) (“Nothing in the traditions of habeas corpus requires the federal courts to . . . entertain collateral proceedings whose only purpose is to vex, harass, or delay.”).

In this case, it appears petitioner has invented the disciplinary case upon which his habeas corpus petition is based. First, “challenging state authority” is not an offense for which a disciplinary case can be written under the TDCJ policy. See Disciplinary Rules and Procedures for Offenders, published by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, § XIV, “TDCJ Disciplinary Offenses,” pgs. 23-33 (revised Jan. 2005). Second, as respondent verifies in the Motion to Dismiss, TDCJ uses a purely numerical system to identify offender disciplinary actions. The number petitioner provided, 20100604CARI, is not a valid TDCJ disciplinary case number. (Respondent’s Motion to Dismiss with Brief in Support, Exhibit B). Respondent additionally indicates “[t]he numbers listed above are not close to any of the offender disciplinaries shown on the records of Finley, Jaicourrie Dewayne.” (Id.).

By basing this habeas corpus petition upon what appears to be a fabricated disciplinary action, petitioner has wasted valuable resources of both the federal judiciary and the state attorney general. Because an actual case or controversy does not appear to exist, this case should be DISMISSED. See Cook, 592 F.2d at 249. Additionally, petitioner should be cautioned that any future habeas corpus petition not based on an actual disciplinary case will not be tolerated. See McCleskey, 499 U.S. at 496, 111 S.Ct. at 1474. Should petitioner continue to file meritless petitions, the Court may impose sanctions upon him which would require him to pay a fee before the Court would consider any habeas corpus petition from him or which could bar him from future federal court filings.

III. RECOMMENDATION

It is the RECOMMENDATION of the United States Magistrate Judge to the United States District Judge that the Motion to Dismiss filed by respondent be GRANTED and the Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus by a Person in State Custody filed by petitioner JAICOURRIE DEWAYNE FINLEY be DISMISSED.
